The Mysterious Case Of The Walking Dead Man

With mystery novels and murder stories being so plentiful nowadays, an original plot is both rare and greatly sought after.

If 9-year-old Gary Eastham, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Eastham, has his way, he will revolutionize the mystery writing field.

The following "mystery" was read to members of the Kiwanis club Monday night. It is entitled "The Captor (Capture) of Red Eagle":

"Black Hawk was an Indian and a nice Indian he was at that, until one day he wack (walked) in his lodge and he saw a dead Indian. He asked the dead Indian who killed him. The Indian said Red eagle, killed me Black Hawk.

Black Hawk said my son Red eagle? The dead Indian was right, Red eagle did kill him. The village was in panek. a muddy Indian on the war path.

In the police logs the detective was tacking shirt jon (Sheriff John), caption (Capt.) jet, Joe Fridy, Boston Blackey and all of the rist were trying to get the facts.

The dead Indian said over and over again that he was looking at a book of Tom and Jerry.

"I wood not let Red Eagle look at a conick book. Red eagle tack out his knife, then he killed me. And then Black Hawk came and find me ded."

Pollen Plays Atomic Joke On Resident

Alarmed that a powdery yellow substance floating on top of a rain puddle might be atomic dust which had drifted to Lomita from the recent Nevada explosion, Mrs. Josephine Vannucci of 26332 Regent, called the Lomita Fire Department last Thursday to come quickly and investigate.

The dust had first been spotted by Mrs. Vannucci's 1-year-old pup, Dutchess, who started to sniff and sneeze suspiciously.

After some quick, thorough checking, firemen came up with some reassuring news for Dutchess and Mrs. Vannucci—the "atomic dust" was just pollen from a near-by pine tree. One more surprise was in store for Mrs. Vannucci the following day. She read of a frantic investigation made by Civil Defense officials in Oakland, California, upon receiving an "atomic dust" alert.

Investigation unearthed the true culprit—pollen from flowering acacia trees.

Mrs. Vannucci is still chuckling over both incidents.

Mesdames William Overstreet, Ray Rhoads, John Andrade, E. N. Reese, and Amanda Bonwell were elected by the Halldale avenue P-TA to serve on the nominating committee to select nominees for officers for the 1955-56 school year.

Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy of 5120 Mindora dr. announce the birth of a daughter, Teri Diane, weighing 7 pounds, on Feb. 23, 1955.

Mineral Group Plans Field Trip

The Palos Verdes Gem and Mineral Society will take a field trip to Tick Canyon, Sunday, March 20. The distance from Lomita is 65 miles and driving time is about 1½ hours. Members are invited to bring their children and a picnic lunch as well as digging tools.
